COVID-19 Commercial Disinfecting

In this unique and unprecedented time, SERVPRO® is being called by numerous business owners and community leaders to perform necessary bioremediation services to clean, disinfect, and sanitize their facilities. We have years of experience and training in dealing with biological contaminants and we possess multiple Hospital-Grade, EPA-Registered Disinfectants that meet the standards set by the CDC for coronavirus disinfection.

Regular janitorial and cleanup services may not be properly trained or follow CDC recommended protocols when dealing with coronavirus situations. In fact, with improper cleaning procedures, they may be further spreading contaminants throughout, imposing danger onto themselves and to you. With high-risk situations involving the coronavirus, you need professionals who are equipped and qualified to safely handle it the right way.

Whether you are being proactive or dealing with an actual exposure, you can rely on SERVPRO® to thoroughly clean and disinfect your property the right way.
